It is time the Justice Department got out of the business of attempting to destroy an asset of the United States.

This Company has done more for this country than all of the Activities suing Microsoft. Once this suit is settled Microsoft will continue to surpass all those attempting to destroy the Company.

The public wants Microsoft's products and will not buy the products of others that are less than acceptable. I and my Company will continue to by Microsoft products.

Putting Microsoft products in schools of this nation will garner more Microsoft customers. This is a smart action on the part of Microsoft. How can other vendors not see that this is not a good idea for Microsoft?
